• Statistical physics: phase transitions, critical phenomena, scaling, the renormalization group.
• Self-similar systems, fractals, fractal growth.
• Disordered systems: percolation, glasses, distributions, averaging, self averaging.
• Solid state physics: magnetism.
• Mesoscopic physics: small systems require quantum physics, so not self-average.
• Spintronics and quantum computing.