

The BGU Review is a multidisciplinary journal that appears in English, published by the Heksherim Institute at Ben-Gurion University of the Negev. The journal presents translations of seminal essays and research regarding various areas of Israeli culture.

Editors: Batya Shimony and Yigal Schwartz

Editorial Board: Eitan Bar-Yosef, Hanna Soker-Schwager, Anat Weisman

The third issue of The BGU Review is now available on-line.

This volume is dedicated to literature written by Mizrachi authors who grew up in Israel's periphery. It includes articles that address the works of several prominent authors: Shimon Adaf, Leah Aini, Ronny Someck, Amira Hess and others.

Alongside the articles there are essays written by the authors themselves that address identity and poetics.
