Call for Master students, Ph.D students and postdocs

We are looking for candidates for a new research group. The ‘theme’ of the group is Interfacial Science and the main three topics that will be explored are:

(1) The effects of surface texture on the ability of liquids to spread on or roll-off surfaces (e.g., the figure below).
(2) Fundamental study of biological membranes.
(3) Development of new ‘extension’ for atomic force microscope.

Generous scholarships and comfortable dormitories are offered.
