

טקס חנוכת מרכז ז'אק לוב
להיסטוריה ופילוסופיה של מדעי החיים

Inauguration Ceremony of the Jacques Loeb Centre for the History and Philosophy of the Life Sciences

Tuesday, March 4, 2008, at 11:00 a.m.

in the W.A. Minkoff Senate Hall, Marcus Family Campus, Beer-Sheva

International Workshop: "Philosophies in Biology"

in Conference Room A, Kreitman Building

Tuesday, March 4, 2008 | 2:00 - 5:30 p.m.

Chair: Oren Harman, Bar Ilan University

Michel Morange, Ecole normale supérieure, Paris
The Death of Molecular Biology?

Evelyn Fox Keller, MIT, Cambridge, Mass.
Evolving Function, Purpose and Agency

Philip Kitcher, Columbia University, New York
Ethics after Darwin

Ute Deichmann, Leo Baeck Institute, London, and Jacques Loeb Centre

Different Methods and Metaphysics in Early Molecular Genetics – A Case of Disparity of Research?

Anthony S. Travis, Edelstein Center, Hebrew University, and Jacques Loeb Centre

Images for Biomedical Research: The Theory and Practice of Paul Ehrlich

Wednesday, March 5, 2008 | 9:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Chair: Rony Armon, Bar Ilan University

Ulrich Charpa, Leo Baeck Institute, London, and University of Bochum
Enemies, False Friends and Friends of Discovery – On Well Known and Less Known 19th and 20th Centuries' Standpoints

Raphael Falk, Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Molecular Genetics: Increasing the Resolving Power of Genetic Analysis

Chair: Yakir Levin, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev

Ido Geiger, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev
Was Darwin Newton of the Blade of Grass? The Methodology of Biology in Kant's Analytic of Teleological Judgment

Siegfried Roth, University of Cologne
Kant, Polanyi and Modern Biology

Frank J. (Yeruham) Leavitt, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev
The Asian Concepts of KI and PRANA and the Revival of the Concept of Force in Western Life Sciences