

Computers under attack - be warned

Almost every day malicious email messages are being sent to our accounts, and the McAfee anti-virus software does not always succeeds to stop it.

Here is one example:

Subject: Google promotion Award

Dear Google User,

We congratulate you for being selected as a winner on our ongoing promotion, you were selected due to your active use of our online services, find attached PDF file with more information.

Congratulations.

Larry Page,
CEO/CO-FOUN

Such message may come also from "Microsoft".

Google and Microsoft never distribute awards like this! Do not open attachments or click on any links in messages like this, lest your hard disk will be encrypted and you will be required to pay ransom, or just format your hard disk.

Forewarned is forearmed!