

Dear SJDM Community,

The Center for Decision Research at The University of Chicago Booth School of Business anticipates hiring two Postdoctoral Principal Researchers for a period of two years, starting in summer 2021. These positions are designed to support talented behavioral scientists in generating significant research contributions to behavioral science disciplines (e.g., psychology, behavioral economics). In addition to conducting high-quality empirical research, the roles will also hold administrative responsibilities. One role will involve management of outreach to support the CDR Labs) <https://bit.ly/3blbP8M> (and the other will support the CDR's new storefront lab & discovery center) <https://bit.ly/3uGVRoj> .(Candidates may apply to one or both positions.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vita, two letters of recommendation, and a cover letter describing their research interests, as well as the potential contribution of this position to the progress of their disciplinary training and academic career. Selection will be based largely on the applicant's ability to work collaboratively on research with one or more of the Center for Decision Research faculty members. Thus, the applicant should indicate one or two faculty members with whom they would be most interested in collaborating.

Review of applications is happening now, on a rolling basis.

In order to receive full consideration, please submit your application materials via one or both of the following links no later than March 19th (<https://bit.ly/3blbP8M> ;<https://bit.ly/3uGVRoj>)

For questions about either of these positions, please email the Executive Director of the Center for Decision Research, Amy Boonstra (Amy.Boonstra@chicagobooth.edu)

The Center for Decision Research at the University of Chicago includes a group of researchers interested in the study of judgment and decision making, social psychology, marketing, and behavioral and experimental economics.
