Autistic Syndrome Disorder (ASD) is a neurodevelopmental disorder characterized by impaired verbal and non-verbal communication abilities. This course explores the two major themes in the connection between autism and language: how the study of linguistics informs the study of autism, and how the study of autism informs the study of linguistics. The first half of the course will explore the first theme, and the second half of the course will explore the second.

Selected bibliography:

