

A Post-doctoral position (2 years with an option for extension) is available at Bershtein Lab (<http://www.bershteinlab.com>) for a highly motivated and accomplished candidate. The project aims to understand the molecular mechanisms underlying the evolution of transient protein-protein interactions. A successful candidate should be proficient in bacterial and yeast genetics, and protein biochemistry and biophysics. The project is conducted in collaboration with a research group at Harvard University.

Contact mail: shimonb@bgu.ac.il