CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

PhD Scholarship in 'Solar Research and the Environment'

The Goldman Sonnenfeldt School of Sustainability and Climate Change of Ben-Gurion University of the Negev calls for outstanding PhD students who study diverse issues of solar energy to submit a scholarship application.

Each scholarship (5 portions, per month) will be given for a period of 2 years. At the end of the first and second years after receiving the grant, the student will submit a report, signed by the supervisor(s), describing the research goal and achievements, including presentations in conferences and publications.

Prerequisites for applying for the grant:

Excellent PhD students with an approved research proposal that do not exceed their second year of studying.

The student’s advisors (from BGU) must be members of the SSCC.

Submission of research grant application in English:

Applications should be sent to sccc_director@bgu.ac.il (please write in the heading - “Solar Research-PhD - first name, surname”). The application file (English) will include the following details (according to the forms attached below):

1. Personal information page
2. Title and abstract of the research (up to 500 words)
3. Contribution of the research to the fields of environment protection, sustainability and climate change
4. CV
5. Academic transcripts (courses and grades)

Deadline for submission of research grant applications: May 18, 2022
Application Form for PhD Scholarship in ‘Solar Research and the Environment’

First name:  Surname:  ID No.:  Mobile Phone:
Department:  Faculty:
1st Degree - Institute:  Department:  Year of Graduation:  Grade average:
2nd Degree - Institute:  Department:  Year of Graduation:  Grade average:

Name of supervisor(s):  1.  Department:  2.  Department:

A research proposal was submitted and approved (check if applicable)

Participation in Conferences:
1. Name of Conference:  Venue of conference:  Presenter:  Title
2. Name of Conference:  Venue of conference:  Presenter:  Title

Scientific Publications:
1. Author(s):  Year:  Journal:  Title:
2. Author(s):  Year:  Journal:  Title:

Supervisor’s Undertaking
I hereby confirm that the student is studying under my supervision, is in a good academic standing and adheres to an orderly research plan. I approve the student's application and am aware of the scholarship’s guidelines.

Name of supervisor:  Signature:  Date:
Name of supervisor:  Signature:  Date:
Summary research proposal (up to 500 words):

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

Contribution of the research to the fields of environment protection, sustainability and climate change:

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________