- Additional information

- Community involvement in the university

During my years at BGU, I have been involved continuously in university life through voluntary participation in various committees, both university-wide and faculty or departmental level committees. In addition to that, I participated actively in various less formal efforts such as authoring the CHE evaluation report for the department, hosting international visitors, participating in the board of trustees' activities, and more. I also organized several conferences, national and international, under the auspices of the Israeli Center for Third-sector Research.

Participation in University committees:

- 2017- Member, steering committee, Israeli Hope project
- 2016-2017 Member, University teaching innovation steering committee
- 2013- Member, Academic steering committee, The Rothschild Cube, Community Action Department
- 2013- Member, Academic steering committee, Access to Higher Education program, Jusidman Science Center for Youth
- 2012-2014 Member, University Ethical Code Committee
- 2010 Member, Dean of Students Social Merit Scholarships committee

Participation in Faculty and Departmental committees:

- 2018- Member, Israeli Hope project faculty committee
- 2016 Member, Ad-hoc curriculum revision committee, Dept. of Public Policy and Administration
- 2009-2012 Member, Faculty Chairs Committee
- 2009-2013 Member, Faculty Curriculum Committee
- 2008-2012 Chair, organizing committees, 11th through 15th spring international conference of the Israeli Center for Third-sector Research
- 2002-2004 Student Representative, Computing and IT committee, UCLA School of Public Policy and Social Research
- 1998-2000 Coordinator, Inter-university students' colloquium on the Third Sector

- Community involvement outside the university

I have been involved voluntarily in various nonprofit and community organizations, where I contribute from my knowledge and expertise. These included national committees, developing infrastructural services for the third sector in Israel (see under Professional functions outside universities/institutions), and supporting umbrella organizations and coalitions of the third sector and civil society in Israel. Below are some of the initiatives and organizations I have been involved with:

Sheatufim, for the promotion of Civil Society in Israel.

Israel Civic Leadership Association

Roundtable of Lay Leadership in Israel, in collaboration with School of Volunteer Leadership, JDC Israel.

Advisory committee, The Volunteering Portal, the National Council for Volunteering in Israel

Organizing committee, annual conference of National Council for Volunteering in Israel

Organizing committee, Ler Institute for Volunteer Management conference, Yad Sarah, Jerusalem

Israel Conservation Committee, Southern Branch

- Current research synopsis

My current work focuses on three main issues. The first issue continues my work on nonprofit management, with a particular interest in the blurring boundaries between business and nonprofit organizations. In this topic, I have studied workforce integration of intellectually disabled persons – comparing nonprofit, for-profit and social/business hybrid organizations' responses (Katz and Sasson, 2017); corporate social responsibility (Amrousy, Gavius-Madar, Katz, and Yosef, 2012); and leadership, ethics and motivations in social entrepreneurship in social enterprises and nonprofit-business hybrid organizations (Cohen & Katz, 2016).

The second issue is philanthropic grantmaking foundations, and their changing forms of investment and giving. I am currently doing research on Social Impact Bonds (with Levy and Yosef) and on investment and payout decisions in grantmaking foundations (with Zvika Afik).

In the third stream I delve into the micro level of research I have done on giving and volunteering, by looking at the interrelations between different manifestations of social engagement and pro-social behavior. Within this area I have done a series of studies on the different aspects of social engagement of young persons (Haski-Leventhal, Yogev-Keren and Katz, 2012; Sasson and Katz, 2014; plus a current study of youth leadership in the periphery with Alon Lisak). My current interests have a specific focus on the role of trust, and particularly the complex relations it has with social engagement and different philanthropic behaviors (giving, volunteering, organizing, organ donations, political engagement), while drawing important and less discussed distinctions between trust, distrust and mistrust, particularized and generalized trust, individual and institutional trust, and more. Within this topic I am currently writing on how trust and need for control affect self and next-of-kin organ donations decisions (with Ayelet Gneezy and Maria Bleckher), and published articles on the effect of trust on social engagement of teens in democratic schools (Strier & Katz, 2015) and the impact of nonprofit public image and brand identity on donations (Katz, 2017).
