

Nurit Zaidman is an anthropologist and a professor at the Department of Business Administration, Guilford Glazer Faculty of Business & Management, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev.

Nurit's research focuses mainly on two areas: global teams and workplace spirituality and the New Age. Both are relatively new fields of research reflecting interest in major economical, sociological and cultural global shifts.

Nurit's work has been published in journals such as: IEEE Transactions on Professional Communication; Journal of Organizational Behavior; Group & Organization Management; Organization; Journal for the Scientific Study of Religion, International Journal of Intercultural Relations; Management Communication Quarterly; Journal of Business Ethics; and International Business Review.

Nurit served as a member at the Editorial board of the Journal of Transnational Management and as a reviewer for: IEEE Transactions on Professional Communication; Organization; Group & Organization Management. She will be the future Book Review Editor for the Journal of Management, Spirituality and Religion.

Nurit is the lecturer and coordinator of Guilford Glazer Faculty of Business & Management PhD students' Seminar.

Nurit has a B.A. in History and Geography from Tel Aviv University and Ben Gurion University (1984), an MA from the Department of Behavioral Sciences, Ben Gurion University (1990) and a PhD in Anthropology from Temple University, USA (1994). She also conducted a Post-Doctorate research at the Department of Behavioral Sciences, Ben-Gurion University (1995).